

Review of Public Works Procedures, Practices and Systems

Hong Kong

Client:

Works Branch, HK Government

Completion Date:

1994

Service Provided:

Enhancement of Management Capability (in joint venture with McKinsey & Company Inc.)

The assignment required the detailed review of public works procedures, practices and systems, aimed at identifying the means by which Government could solve its chronic underspending problem and uplift its capability and capacity to deliver the public works programme. It defined the need for the Public Works Management System (PW-MS) and, subsequently, designed and developed and substantially implemented the system across the whole of the works departments, based on a Unix server and over 60 SUN work stations throughout Hong Kong.
